During the post-monsoon season of 2024, Adventure Consultants will operate an expedition to attempt the technical and rarely climbed South West Ridge of Cholatse (6,440m/21,128ft). This is a challenging, alpine-style climb of a spectacular peak with steep soaring lines on every aspect.

This ascent is focused specifically towards those with solid mountaineering experience, as this is a real hands-on expedition. The Adventure Consultants guides and Sherpa staff will be there to coordinate the logistics and ensure high safety standards, but climbing members will assist with carrying loads, fixing rope and monitoring safety for themselves and their teammates.

We will climb the popular trekking peak of Lobuche East (6,119m/20,075ft) for acclimatisation before crossing the Cho La (5,420m/17,780ft) into the Gokyo Valley. Here we will establish our Base Camp for the ascent of Cholatse. The trek in has many visual highlights, including stunning views of the surrounding Himalayan peaks of Everest, Cho Oyu, Nuptse, Lhotse, Makalu, Ama Dablam and many, many more.

EXPEDITION OUTLINE

This 32-day expedition commences in Kathmandu, Nepal, from where we fly by helicopter to Lukla, the gateway to the Khumbu Valley. From here we trek up to Lobuche East before continuing on to Cholatse. Upon arrival at each of the mountains, we will establish a Base Camp which will be staffed by our talented kitchen crew. In the higher mountain camps, we will cook our own food, much of which will be imported from New Zealand to ensure the usual high standard of fare expected on our expeditions.

On our trek up the famous Khumbu Valley, we will try to avoid the busy direct trekking route to Everest Base Camp by staying on the western side of the valley past Namche Bazaar. After arriving at Lobuche Base Camp, we will undertake a day hike to Lobuche High Camp to aid acclimatisation for the coming ascent.

We will then rest and prepare loads and meals for the mountain, as well as revising rope fixing techniques and safety, before moving up to High Camp again, located on a small expanse of grass and rock above a deep blue lake. From here, it's early to bed for an alpine start the following morning.

Our early start (around 2.30am), sees us climbing the South East Ridge, which is a mixture of snow and ice. Where necessary, we will fix ropes along the route. Steady climbing will bring us to the far eastern summit.

From the top, we are well rewarded with superb views across to Ama Dablam, Makalu, Lhotse, Everest, Nuptse, Changtse (in Tibet), Pumori, Gyachung Kang, Cho Oyu and of course, Cholatse. Then it's time for our descent, all the way back down to our Base Camp.

After the ascent of Lobuche East, we enjoy a short trek to Dzongla, before climbing up and over the Cho La Pass and descending to Cholatse Base Camp. One of the guides and two Sherpas will have come here directly to set things up for our arrival. They will have also climbed to Camp 1 to get established on the route.

After an optional rest day, members will carry loads up to Camp 1 and assist with establishing Camp 2. The climbing will be steep mixed climbing. Once Camp 2 is established, we will have a rest day at either Camp 1 or Camp 2. We will work as a team—all members, guides and Sherpas working together to establish fixed ropes above Camp 2 to the start of the summit ridge.

Summit day will start very early, aiming to arrive at the top of the fixed ropes at dawn. We will then pitch and fix the low angled but exposed summit ridge. This will be difficult terrain that is known to sometimes have variable conditions. Summit day will require maximum fortitude and the entire team will be contributing to the outcome with commensurate rewards! We will retrieve our ropes on the descent, arriving back at Camp 2 late in the evening. The next day, we'll return to Base Camp, removing all our equipment from the mountain.

After Cholatse, the expedition returns down the valley to Namche Bazaar, where we revel in the comfort of the lodges. The next day it's onwards to Lukla for the flight back to Kathmandu.

This expedition is designed to offer you a serious technical challenge, backed up by the logistical support of Adventure Consultants and its senior guides. Our many years of Himalayan experience allows us to offer you high-quality food, accommodation and experiences. It's the small details that make all the difference and this is where our background and processes make a considerable difference to the outcome of the expedition. We provide the most affable and experienced Western guides working in conjunction with our excellent Sherpa friends, to promise you an experience of a lifetime!

NOTE: Factors such as weather, team member health and logistics etc. will no doubt create some change in the actual dates of the program.

TEAM SIZE

For the Cholatse Expedition, we will take a minimum of 4 people and a maximum of 8 people, hence spaces are limited.

The number of guides is determined by the team size but the normal ratio of guides to members is 1:4.

The expedition leader will be scheduled approximately six months out from the trip start. All of our trip leaders have extensive experience at high altitude and a proven record of safety, success and compatibility. You will find our guides strong and companionable expedition members with the capacity and willingness to see you achieve your goals.

THE ADVANTAGES OF CLIMBING WITH ADVENTURE CONSULTANTS

Adventure Consultants is renowned for the quality of its service and strategy applied to high altitude expedition climbing. Our reputation is attributed to meticulous planning and experienced logistics coordination. We have a philosophy of investing in every expedition to offer our climbers the best possible chance of success.

We employ strong and specialised Expedition Leaders and staff, who are some of the most pre-eminent in the industry. We pride ourselves on operating with small teams, with the best backup and support available. This includes nutritious and ample quantities of food, comfortable Base Camp facilities, reliable communications systems and the necessary medical back up.

Many of our expedition members come to us because they have seen us in action on a previous trip and decide to opt for our level of service and proven experience. Others return because they know we do our very best to make expeditions safe and successful.

FOOD

Food will be of the highest standard possible, given the remoteness of the situation. Please inform us if you have any special dietary requirements. During the trekking phases we will dine in lodges and at the Base Camps we will eat in a dining tent catered for by our expedition cook and support crew. Our camp equipment and nutritious meals are always the envy of other groups along the way! We do recommend that you bring some of your favourite snacks like muesli bars, chocolate and/or candy, as well as energy gels and electrolyte drinks that you are used to using.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION & INSURANCE

Expedition members will be provided with a medical questionnaire and asked to visit their family physician to receive a full medical examination. This information will be sighted only by the expedition doctor and Expedition Leader and will be treated with full confidentiality. Advice on immunisations will be provided at this time.

We also require members to have rescue insurance and we will consult with individual team members as to your insurance needs and solutions for coverage.

VISAS

Expedition members will be responsible for their own entry visa into Nepal. This can be organised by a Nepalese embassy or consular office in your home country or at Kathmandu Airport on arrival in Nepal. Currently, the easiest and best place to obtain a visa is upon arrival at Kathmandu Airport.

Visa application forms can be downloaded off the web but we will also send you a copy prior to your departure. You will need to select a 90-day visa which costs US$125. If you choose to get your visa at Kathmandu Airport, you will need to have a passport photo handy. Once in Kathmandu, our agent will arrange your climbing permit for the expedition.

DOCUMENTATION & PHOTOGRAPHS

Expedition members will be requested to provide a digital passport photograph and a copy of their passport biodata page.

EQUIPMENT LIST & REFERENCE NOTES

Upon sign up, expedition members will be sent a set of Reference Notes containing all the necessary information for the trip. These notes provide extensive information on everything from suggestions of what type of camera to bring to training advice for your expedition preparation. They also include a list of essential clothing and equipment to be obtained.
